3. Collection and use of personal data

Purpose of processing and legal basis

MedeConnect obtains personal data that is disclosed or otherwise processed by us upon entering into and performing agreements, communicating with Business Associates in relation to agreements and making and receiving payments under agreements. We also may obtain Representatives' personal data from public sources in anticipation of a prospective business relationships.

We use a variety of public sources to collate information about potential Business Associates we believe may be suitable for our services. We may also receive a referral from one of your colleagues and process that information in a similar way. Personal data is any information that allows an individual (in this case, the Representative) to be identified.

We may process the following types of personal data about Representatives:

- Names, postal or e-mail addresses, fax numbers, and phone numbers
- Employment information (e.g. job titles) relating to Representatives
- Communication preferences

As a matter of practice, we will not collect any sensitive personal data relating to Representatives. To the extent that there is a need for us to process sensitive personal data, we will obtain the Representative's prior written consent.

The legal bases we rely upon to offer these services to you are:

- Where we have a legitimate interest;
- To fulfil a contractual obligation that we have with you; and/or
- Your consent for direct marketing.

Accuracy of your personal data

It is important that the personal information we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed by contacting us if your personal information changes during the period which we hold your data.

Cookies

A cookie is a file containing an identifier (a string of letters and numbers) that is sent by a web server to a web browser and is stored by the browser. The identifier is then sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server.

Cookies may be either "persistent" cookies or "session" cookies: a persistent cookie will be stored by a web browser and will remain valid until its set expiry date, unless deleted by the user before the expiry date; a session cookie, on the other hand, will expire at the end of the user session, when the web browser is closed.

Cookies do not typically contain any information that personally identifies a user, but personal information that we store about you may be linked to the information stored in and obtained from cookies.

Managing cookies

17.1 Most browsers allow you to refuse to accept cookies and to delete cookies. The methods for doing so vary from browser to browser, and from version to version. You can however obtain up-to-date information about blocking and deleting cookies via these links:

Blocking all cookies will have a negative impact upon the usability of many websites. If you block cookies, you will not be able to use all the features on our website.

Analytics

When you visit www.medeconnect.net, we use a third-party service, Google Analytics, to collect standard internet log information and details of visitor behavior patterns. We do this to find out such things as the number of visitors to the various parts of the site. This information is only processed in a way that does not identify anyone. We do not make, and do not allow Google to make, any attempt to find out the identities of those visiting our website.

If we do collect personal data through our website, we'll be upfront about this. We'll make it clear when we collect personal information and we'll explain what we intend to do with it.

11. Changes to the Privacy Notice

This Privacy Notice was last updated on 28 February 2019. If it is necessary for us to alter the terms of this Privacy Notice, we will post the revised policy on this website.

12. Complaints or queries

MedeConnect is committed to meeting the highest standards when collecting and using personal information and expects all staff to share this commitment. For this reason, we take any complaints very seriously. We encourage you to bring it to our attention if you think that our collection or use of your information is unfair, misleading or inappropriate.

This privacy notice was drafted with brevity and clarity in mind. It does not provide exhaustive detail of all aspects of our collection and use of personal information. However, we are happy to provide any additional information or explanation needed. Any requests for this should be sent to the email address below.

If you wish to complain about this privacy notice or any of the procedures set out in it please contact our Data Protection Officer – DPO@eu.m3.com

You also have the right to raise concerns with Information Commissioner's Office on 0303 123 1113 or at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns>, if you believe that your data protection rights have not been adhered to.
